MEMORANDUM FOR: Joseph Becker, AD/OCS

STATINTL FROM : [REDACTED]

STATINTL SUBJECT : Establishment of a Uniform Station Code
(Memo from [REDACTED] BPAM - date 20 March 1964)

- STATINTL
1. In answering [REDACTED] memo, I think it advisable to arrange an informal meeting on the uniformity of station code. Since the subject matter involves Accounts, Logistics, and Personnel applications, responsible personnel from those areas should be in attendance.
  2. It is difficult to pinpoint the immediate problem from reading the memo. It may well be that some incidental change in the manner of reporting (or report format) would eliminate the problem.
  3. The different coding structures referred to are tailored to the specific need of the area using the codes. Logistics, for example, uses a code that allows for accountability on a "Station" basis. This would prove wholly inadequate for use in the Personnel system since the primary consideration there is one of actual physical location of the individual, and must, of necessity, be based on a world-wide geographic distribution basis.
